Trainers To Follow In The Festive Season - By High Roller Racing

Apart from Nicky Henderson who has his team in splendid form we have three trainers for you to consider during and over the festive season. Our first trainer to consider is Warren Greatrex who has quite a number of entries in the coming days. Warren does particularly well at Wetherby, Stratford and Uttoxeter... in the last five seasons he has saddled 25 winners at Stratford, 21 winners at Uttoxeter and 18 winners at Wetherby. The Stratford results very impressive with a 37 per cent winning strike rate. Warren has entries for Petticoat Tails, Aloomomo and Bright Tomorrow and you could miss these three at your peril. Keep the Stratford statistics in your notebook for future reference as they don't race until March 2018.

James Ewart is our second trainer to consider as he has shown sign of a return to form recently. James hasn't had many runners but has a twenty per cent win rate over the season to date. Sky Full Of Stars looks about ready to step up after a recent third at Sedgefield. Strike The Pose has several entries in the coming days and it could be that we follow the trainers selected entry for this horse...the third horse in his most recent race has come out and won since. Charmant despite an increase in the weights could also go close next time.

Anthony Honeyball has his team in great form and is our third trainer to consider with his runners. Four of his last six runners have won at the time of writing. Anthony has been on a good level since mid-November and at the moment shows no signs of stopping. Over the coming days Anthony has numerous entries particularly at Fontwell, Huntingdon, Kempton and Wincanton. Entries from this yard which has attracted my attention being Le Coeur Net, Rebound, Act Now and Tacenda. Anthony has other entries and in the form he is in we need to consider all his runners carefully.

I hope that these pointers may help you profit in the forthcoming days. May I take the opportunity to wish you all the best for the festive season and a very prosperous New Year. High Roller Racing is currently 25 points in profit for December with a strike rate of around the fifty per cent mark. We win consistently for our members and would offer you the chance to join us FREE of charge and pay just £10 if the selection wins. Best wishes to you all and your families.

Today's Sports Betting Preview - By Rick Elliott

We have already said in previous messages that Might Bite wins the King George V1 Chase at Kempton Park or falls in the race. The two other favourites in the Grade 1 races on the Boxing Day card can be backed in a double at 3/1 with William Hill. Potentially MIGHT BITE is the best chaser in training in Britain and Ireland but has a habit of throwing away races. The horse can blitz away from the front in the King George today and win the second most prestigious chase of the season.

Buveur D'Air is the current champion hurdler and defeat in the Christmas Hurdle would be a huge upset. The horse has plenty in hand on form and ratings over the rest of the field. The New One is a reliable animal who even at the age of nine has been running close to his best form this season. Old Guard has shown some decent form but is held by the New One and the other two runners are making up the numbers which means BUVEUR D'AIR looks a good thing but you won't get rich backing the horse at 1/5 but money buyers may be attracted by a 20% return on investment.

This time last year Might Bite was about to win the Kauto Star Novices' Chase in impressive style when falling at the last fence. The race often identifies the best novice of the first half of the season and Mia's Storm has the potential to go right to the top in the division. Ballyoptic was a classy hurdler who has made a good start in chasing and the ground should suit today. However, MIA'S STORM is slightly preferred at 5/2 with Ladbrokes.

There are two live TV matches in the Premiere League today and the banker bet is a double in the two home teams. Tottenham and Liverpool have plenty in hand over Southampton and Swansea who visit their grounds and that double pays 4/6 with bet365. In the 3pm matches Chelsea should beat Brighton at home and Manchester United will be too strong for Burnley at Old Trafford. A multiple on the four home bankers will be a popular bet at about 5/1 but the bookies often get one team beat in bets of this nature. Might Bite is a better betting proposition in the King George.

Tuesday's Horses In Focus - By Unity Racing Investments

Well I don't know about you but I have certainly over indulged this Christmas it made getting out of bed at 4:30 this morning very difficult indeed if only I left that glass of 1982 port in the bottle.

Overall this year has been really good for members as we hit another year of profit. Not only that but a 3 figure profit that is great for a service that only plays 1 point level stakes and of course the many profitable side bets that we shared with our members that are not recorded in our final results made the year even sweeter. We are not done yet though and we have a great opportunity to add to our totals over the next week. I hope we can do just that!

Ok let's get to the nitty gritty with our Boxing Day horses in focus.

Today's Horses In Focus

Kempton 12:45 Novices Hurdle (Class 2) 16f - The two with interlinked form lines are SOLOMON GREY AND IFTHCAPFITS at the prices I would rather have the first named at 12/1 as I think the horse improved on the clock after the race which he was beaten by ifthecapfits. Which would mean that horse would need to improve again. While SIMPLY THE BETTS at 11/2 looks like a horse on the up and is the token selection in the race at the right kind of price.

Kempton 1:20 Handicap Chase (Class 3) 20f - Plenty in this race that have potential to be 140+ rated horses as we look to the figures it is the 2 at the biggest prices that come out best BEGGARS WISH 20/1 AND BAD BOY DU POULDU 16/1 with TOUCH KICK 8/1 showing vast improvement in his last 2 races. Of course there are a few that could surpass the form already on show notably reigning supreme but in a race that could go any way I would play a larger each way bet on TOUCH KICK and a couple of smaller bets on the other two but probably win only to keep stakes down.

Kempton 1:55 Novices/Maiden Chase (Class 1) - I like the chance of FOUNTAINS WINDFALL 7/1 here the horse will have to have got over the fall that saw him crash out at Newbury but he was still going well that day at 3 out and he was a short priced favourite for the race. I think if he jumps well today he can win this race.

Kempton 2:30 Conditions Hurdle (Class 1) 16f - This is a tough race to work out with odds on favourite BUVEUR DAIR not appearing anywhere near on our speed list THE

NEW ONE comes out best but is largely a horse I have avoided over the years as there is never any value in backing him. Although totally wrong at the weights I'm gonna give a little squeak to Moyaayed at 66/1 as I think this flat track will bring out his flat speed yes crazy but I've seen crazy things happen before.

Kempton 3:05 King George VI Chase (Grade 1) 24f - BRISTOL DE MAI was impressive last race and he fits the profile for the race so at 4/1 he is the selection. I am going to give a big each way should for TEA FOR TWO 28/1 and hope all 8 run we said the horse was set to improve at the start of last year and since then he has gone from strength to strength. Yet probably doesn't win as often as he should.

Kempton 3:40 Handicap Hurdle (Class 3) 21f - I like 2 in this race at working mans prices the first is JALEO at 16/1 and the other is WOLFCATCHER at 20/1 both horses should give a decent run for the money in a race that will be tough to win. I couldn't separate them so best to back both and hope for a win!

That's it for today, I hope you all have a great Boxing Day and back some winners. Thanks for your support during 2017!
