Simon Holden Racing Club - By Simon Holden

Another huge Saturday of racing with Ascot and Wetherby taking centre stage over the jumps. Wetherby has invested a fortune in finally bringing the track up to scratch and now at last boasts some decent facilities as well as brilliant jumps racing.

The Charlie Hall rightly takes centre stage but the 2.40 BET365 known as the West Yorkshire Hurdle is a cracker in its own right. At such an early part of the season there has to be an element of guesswork so it's often best to look at Trainers who have their strings in good early season nick. It's a long season of course and though this is a good race in it's own right there may be some here who are just having an early season sighter to put them spot on for other challenges further down the line.

Fergal O'Brien has certainly started the season in good form and he tends to have his charges very fit so we can safely assume that applies to Colins Sister in this. At 16/1 each way it certainly looks a great bet as Colins Sister was a highly progressive performer last season winning four races on the bounce. What particularly interests me here is that one of those wins was first time up. Those were mares races and now she takes on the boys with a very tasty weight allowance and the sticky ground will be no problem to her.

Lets take 16/1 and help make her brother Colin very proud.

Have a great punting weekend I have some more big priced gambles today at Wetherby and it's not too late to join in.

Our Duke And Coneygree Is The Banker Jumps Double

- By Rick Elliott

A former Cheltenham Gold Cup winner is running at Wetherby and a potential future winner is running at Down Royal. Coneygree is vying for favouritism for the Charlie Hall Chase while Our Duke is the odds-on favourite to win the Jwine.com Champion Chase. Cue Card and Road To Respect could upset the apple cart and spoil the double. Blaklion and More Of That are the each-way alternatives in the two races.

The jumps season moves up a gear this weekend with major races on both sides of the Irish Sea. Our Duke could be the best horse running in Britain and Ireland and that says something with Coneygree and Cue Card in action. All roads lead to the Cheltenham Festival in March when Coneygree and Our Duke could be in the Gold Cup mix. There are major Saturday races now every week until the New Year.

The Charlie Hall Chase is Wetherby's biggest jumps race and often attracts Gold Cup horses or the leading novices from the previous season. It is a conditions race run over three miles and there are 18 fences to be jumped. Six horses have won the race two times but there is no three-time winner. The leading jockeys with three wins have retired and Gordon Richards and Nigel-Twiston Davies have trained four winners. Former winners include Silviniaco Conti (2012) and Cue Card (2015).

Coneygree was the first novice to win the Cheltenham Gold Cup for 40 years when running his rivals ragged in 2015. Injuries have blighted his career since then and the horse has only run three times in the last two years. However, Coneygree's last effort was outstanding in that he only went down by one and a half lengths to Sizing John and Djakadam in the Punchestown Gold Cup. The horse was not fluent at the last after rallying and just missed out.

Cue Card has fallen in the last two Gold Cups so maybe the horse is destined not to win the race. Connections are now considering the Ryanair Chase at the festival, a race Cue Card won in 2013. The horse will be 12 next March and although the trainer reports he is as good as ever beating younger horses in the Gold Cup now looks beyond him. Cue Card could go down as one of the best chasers not to win the race.

He beat Coneygree by 15 lengths in the Betfair Chase last November but the beaten horse had not run for over a year. Coneygree is tipped to win the Charlie Hall Chase this time especially as rain has eased the ground. Blaklion has the form to make the payout places and could win the National this season after finishing fourth in the race in April when looking the most likely winner for much of the race.

Our Duke had a fine season despite not running at Cheltenham. That was a conscious decision that was justified in the Irish Grand National in April. Carrying 11 stones four pounds Our Duke was always amongst the leaders, led before four fences from the finish and was driven clear to win easily. The horse entered the Gold Cup picture that day and can consolidate his prospects by winning at Down Royal.

More Of That is entered in both feature races and can be placed in which ever he contests. The former World Hurdle winner was running a huge race in the Irish Gold Cup in February won by Sizing John when falling at the last. That level of form gives the horse place chances in either race but the win double should be Coneygree and Our Duke which pays over 9/4.

Our Duke Could Be The Best Horse In Action Today - By Rick Elliott

Variety is the spice of life and racing fans have top action on the Flat and over the jumps, on turf and dirt and in Britain, Ireland and the United States today. The best horse running could be OUR DUKE who will get right in the mix for the Cheltenham Gold Cup with a win at Down Royal. The horse was impressive in winning the Irish Grand National in April so must be backed to win the 2.30pm at 10/11 with Ladbrokes. Blaklion looks overpriced in the Charlie Hall Chase at Wetherby.

There are nine Breeders' Cup races tonight and plenty of leading contenders from Europe. Highland Reel is trying to win the Turf again over one mile four furlongs but looks a false favourite. On form and ratings ULYSSES is the horse to back at 11/4 with Betfair. The horse has been placed at the King George and Arc behind Enable and has the better form this season than Highland Reel who won the race last year when Ulysses was fourth.

In Liverpool's last five away matches in the Premier League there have been 23 goals. Jurgen Klopp's philosophy seems to be if they score two we'll score three. The approach is in contrast to Jose Mourinho's but lets count up trophies at the end of the season. Manchester United will probably be set up to draw at Chelsea. LIVERPOOL will be sent out to beat West Ham today and that outcome is 13/20 with Betfair.

Both teams have scored in 12 of the last 20 fixtures involving Stoke and Leicester which equates to about 4/6 and you can back that option at 4/5 with Sun Bets. Stoke have not conceded in just one of their last nine matches and Leicester's fixtures have produced more than the average number of goals. Their new manager might change the philosophy but not the players in the short term so expect goals today when they play Stoke away from home.

Declan's Eye-Catchers - By Declan O'Donoghue

DAWN SHADOW (Dot Love) Snug winner of a two and a half miles maiden hurdle, she can prosper at a higher level if kept to mares races, and three miles shouldn't be a problem.

DE PLOTTING SHED (Gordon Elliott) Had to give best in the end to a superb Presenting Percy but clearly has quite a future over the larger obstacles.

EARLY DOORS (Joseph O'Brien) A competent rather than highly efficient start over hurdles but make no mistake this lad has plenty under the bonnet.

GENIE IN A BOTTLE (Noel Meade) Game and classy winner of a Listed Chase at Wexford. Possibly just didn't get the trip in the four miler at Cheltenham last March - maybe lost out in the Gigginstown shuffling of the Festival pack - and won't mind better ground.

JUST JANICE (John Kiely) Has had a very productive week, winning at Galway on Monday and a mares graded race at Down Royal yesterday. Plenty more in the pipeline.

PRESENTING PERCY (Pat Kelly) Represents a trainer who punches way above his weight at Cheltenham, this Pertemps winner had RSA stamped all over him when beating a top class field at Galway. "He was like a ballerina" Davy Russell said in admiration. Praise indeed.

SHATTERED LOVE (Gordon Elliott) Not put off by a bad first fence error at Clonmel on Thursday, she settled down to comfortably win a mares chase, beating decent yardstick Miss Eye-catcher.

* Yet another good week for the Declan O'Donoghue Irish Racing Service as winners included Bid Adieu 12/1; Larchmont Lad 10/1 (won 8/1); Flag Of Honour 7/2 (w 2/1); No Pressure Pat 3/1; Without Limites 9/4 (w 4/6) and Twobeelucky 9/4.
