NAP - Finding One A Day - By Eddie Lloyd

The word NAP is used by tipsters to select their best bet of the day. More typical in newspapers, the meaning and origins of the word are widely discussed. The general consensus is that it's an abbreviation of Napoleon, which was shouted out by a player of the old card game when they had an unbeatable hand.

My favourite theory though is that back in 1770, Eclipse was unbeaten on his previous 10 races. A journalist at the time was convinced that the horse could not win an 11th consecutive race, so when compiling the papers racing section, he penned the letters N.A.P next to the horse's name. When questioned by the editor as to what this typo meant, the journalist exclaimed Not A Prayer. The typo was allowed to stand but the horse, Eclipse, won by many lengths at odds of 1/10!

Another theory is that newspapers in general, never really took racing seriously but had to provide tips to their readers. As most journalists felt this task below them, they would ask the apprentice to run through the card and find the horse with the best chance. NAP, therefore, stood for Newspaper's Apprentice Pick!

Whatever, the origins of the word NAP, as punters, it's a great idea to be able to find our own NAP. Over the rest of this article, I will look at a quick and easy way to find your own Newspaper's Apprentice Pick!

Select the first two or three horses that have steamed in the market -

Horse Racing Market Movers

« Back to Market Movers Summary

Steamer	Drifter	Best Book	Top Differences	Mover
Steamer - Selections in a betting market that have been well backed, causing the odds to shorten
Category	Name & Event	Best Orig Odds	Best Curr Odds	Shortest Curr Odds	Bookies With Odds	Bookies With Odds Moved	Average Market Share Swing*
UK & Ireland	Dragon Mall Newcastle 16:40	5/1	4/1	10/3	25	11	2.98%
UK & Ireland	Atletico Newcastle 17:10	9/1	7/1	6/1	25	3	1.77%
UK & Ireland	Niceandeasy Ayr 13:00	9/4	2/1	7/4	25	1	1.69%

In this case, we'll look at Dragon Mall in the 16:40 Newcastle. Head over to the market and check that this horse is the most backed horse in the race.

Most Popular Bets

Take a price with a BOG bookie and try to do this as early as you can. You'd be surprised how many times you'll end up on the favourite of the race. Spread your bets around as bookies will soon shut you down if you keep beating the SP.

I appreciate this is a very simple system but we're relying on the market, which is the most accurate indication of a horse's chance. By finding these horse's that are being backed in, we will make money over the long-term.

Before I finish up, there are two selections for the Turbo Winning System -

12:30 Ayr - Caventara

13:00 Ayr - Too Many Chiefs

Do You Claim Your Free Money? - By High Roller Racing

Just thought I would ask if you are claiming or have claimed all the free money that the Bookmakers are throwing at you? By this I mean the Free Bets you should be claiming, such as the following...

Bet Bright are offering a matched deposit up to £100... you deposit £100 and they top you up to £200. Paddy Power offer a risk free £20 bet when you join, Betfair offer you a free £20 bet when you place 5x £10 bets plus you can do this five times... £100 in total free bets. Bet Victor you bet £10 get £40 free bets... it goes on and on and on.

All the bookmakers want our business and are prepared to dangle special offers of free bets to us to get our custom.

I suggest that you open as many accounts as you can and take all these free offers, grab them with both hands!

Ladbrokes now boost prices if you bet with them. Provided you are not a huge gambler they boost your price and pay best odds guaranteed. Check this out especially on shorter priced horses.

Bet365 will give you free bets throughout the life of your account depending on your spending with them. I am not averse to receiving a free £20 here and there from Bet365.

I hope you had a profitable Christmas and New Year. I did but I would like you to have a really good service to make money with in the New Year. That service is High Roller Racing. ## Today's Sports Betting Preview - By Rick Elliott

Harry Kane scored more goals in 2017 than any other player in the five main European leagues and broke Alan Shearer's record for goals in a calendar year. You can be certain he'll be hopeless in the World Cup for England this summer. However, you would hope he doesn't do a 'Ben Stokes' and not be able to take part. Even with Kane up front England have no chance of winning the World Cup but if he was absent their prospects would be reduced. Kane is 6/10 with William Hill to score at anytime when his Tottenham side play ay Swansea tonight in the Premier League. Spurs are the only one of the six superpowers of English football that Swansea have never beat.

The Welsh side were looking at a defeat at Watford in their last match. Two late goals gave them a win and three points in new manager Carlos Carvalhal's first match in charge. There should be a spring in the step in the team at the bottom of the league when Tottenham are in town tonight. The key to the outcome is whether Kane has recovered from a bout of flu that has prevented him from training since Boxing Day. Any side would miss their talisman and leading scorer even though Tottenham are not quite dependent on Kane as England. However, Swansea can build on the late drama at Watford and avoid defeat and the DRAW is 15/4 with Ladbrokes.

Watford have the perfect fixture to recover from that defeat to Swansea because they are playing at Manchester City tonight! Actually it might not be a bad time to take on the champions-elect because Kevin de Bruyne and Gabriel Jesus will be absent due to injury at the Etihad Stadium tonight. Unfortunately Watford are depleted by injury and suspension so the inevitable defeat is on the cards. However, statistically there have been more than two goals in 71% and 62% per cent of City and Watford's recent matches but OVER 3.5 GOALS can be backed at Evens with Betfair tonight.

With an inspection at Ayr this morning the only definite racing action in Britain and Ireland today is on an artificial surface at Newcastle. One of the best turf tracks in the country has been dug up to create an All Weather track but Newcastle could be the only surviving fixture this afternoon so the move is justified. In fact there is some decent prize money on offer at this twilight meeting. The most lucrative race is a fast-track qualifier for the All Weather Championships at 5.10pm. DOCTOR SARDONICUS has the benefit of a run 11 days ago and the horse offers a bit of value at 9/1 with William Hill to win this race.

Tuesday's Horses In Focus - By Unity Racing Investments

I hope it's a very happy new year for all of you. Well it wasn't the end of the year that we were hoping for but thanks to a couple of double digit winners UBLA won 12/1 advised and A FEW GOOD MEN 12/1 also won along with top TOP VILLE BEN 8/1 all winners in the last 4 days of the year. Not quite enough to get ahead but certainly made the month more palatable. It left us with just a 15 point loss for the month in which very little went right for us.

That hasn't ruined the year though and yet again we have made gains of 192 points for the year or £19,200 to £100 bets. Not our best year but the 4th year end that we have registered triple digit gains.

There has certainly been a lot to learn from for this year and areas we can improve and be more profitable. Why not get on board now with this Crazy offer from Betfan.

Today's Horses In Focus

Not much racing today so our horses in focus is short but hopefully we can find a winner or two to kick the new year off.

Ayr 12-30 Novices/Maiden Hurdle (Class 5) 20f - Connections are hoping for a big run from CAVENTARA 8/1 the horse had no chance first time up but they have been working on this and the horse is much fitter and more clued up this time. They have used the few months since its last run to try to get to the bottom of the horse and they think they may have the key. The step up in trip may not be quite far enough but it will give them lots of info today.

Ayr 3-10 Handicap Chase (Class 5) 16f - LOS TUNAS around 6/1 is the one to go with in this race there is a certain confidence from the SMITH camp that they have the horse right today and they believe he will win. He needed the run last time out and today is primed to move forward. Not a huge amount of value in the bet as we make it a 4/1 shot but on a day that chances are in short supply I think it wouldn't be too bad a bet.

Well that's it for today I find NEWCASTLE hard to bet due to the lack of history and the way the track rides so unless anything really stands out or the connections blow me away with confidence then I think it's best to watch right now. We will be back next week with a more substantial write up.
