Howard's Eye-Catchers & Racing Hottie By Howard Davis-Shaw

Well this week we have some super racing to look forward to on Friday and Saturday in particular. Saturday with the group one Dewhurst stakes for 2 year olds which can often be a pointer to next years classics.

Then we also have the second leg of the Autumn double the Cesarewitch which is for staying handicappers over 2 miles and 2 furlongs. This race was first run in 1839 and was named in honour of the then Tsar of Russia Alexander II who had donated £300 to the Jockey Club. It is the only race to start in one county Cambridgeshire and finish in another Suffolk.

It is one of my favourite races as I have had many big priced winners over the years so I will take a stab at it yet again for Howie's Hottie. The three I like are Who Dares Wins, First Mohican and The Graduate. The first two are trained by Alan King of which Who Dares Wins is favourite and First Mohican who was 2nd in the event last year. Both have decent chances but my main fancy is the Graduate who is now trained by Tony Martin in Ireland.

The gelding was well beaten on his first run for ages last time out behind Who Dares Wins but I'm sure he will strip a lot fitter this time. I have to say believe it or not the draw is important as most winners seem to come from low numbers so that is something to bear in mind nearer the day.

Hopefully The Graduate will get a decent draw plus I would like to see Oisin Murphy come in for the ride as he won on the horse when he was trained by the Baldings. At current prices Who Dares Wins is a general 10/1 with First Mohican at 50/1 in places and The Graduate 25/1 generally and 40/1 with Skybet.

EYE-CATCHERS

FLAT

Beyond Recall trainer L.Cumani - Stayed on late at Lingfield which suggests a longer trip will help.

Lincoln trainer M.Channon - Strong finisher over 5 furlongs and I feel an extra furlong will help.

JUMPS

Antony trainer G.Moore - Ran well at Fontwell on his seasonal debut and will strip fitter next time.

Laying The Dogs! By Rick Elliott

You know it's a light day for sport when the main story in the daily preview is about greyhound racing. This is an acquired taste and a sports betting niche but there's live coverage every night on Racing Post Greyhound TV. Sky covers some of the major races and meetings so the dogs are well covered on television and the Racing Post provides form and results. Laying greyhounds is not everybody's cup of tea but it can be profitable.

If you glance at the Greyhounds section towards the back of the Racing Post you will see a multitude of meetings and there are 11 covered today. You have to be selective when adopting a strategy so it's best to focus on the RPGTV meetings. You can eliminate the Open races and any A1 and A10 graded races. Traps 1 and 6 should be disregarded for the purpose of this approach to laying greyhounds.

The next step is to identify the trap that has provided the fewest winners since the start of the year. There are websites that record results and statistics and show trap records. The trap with the lowest winning percentage (disregarding 1 and 6) is the next key element of this system. You must avoid any dog that has finished first and second on the last start and any dog that has recorded the fastest time over the distance.

You should now have a list of races and the trap number to lay. The best staking approach is to lay for £10 which means that is the most you can lose in one race. Stakes can be compounded or level and that stake unit is dependent on your budget and the amount you are comfortable risking but remember there could be several qualifying races. Do not lay any dog at 6/1 or bigger in the betting forecast. Any race with a vacant trap should be ignored.

RPGTV are covering Peterborough and Central Park (Sittingbourne) tonight. The least winning trap other than 1 or 6 is trap 5 at Peterborough and trap 3 at Central Park. There are seven graded races (indicated by an A prefix) at Peterborough that qualify. The following races meet all the criteria that make the bet a lay: 725, 842 and 915. At Central Park the following races from seven graded contests qualify: 802, 818 and 850. So, there are six dogs to lay on RPGTV tonight.
