Saints Youngsters Can Prevail In The EFL Trophy

There is another international break this week and matches in the UEFA Nations League which are glorified friendlies. The fixtures give some meaning to non-competitive matches but winning the competition comes third behind the World Cup and European Championships. It's a blank week for the Premier League and Champions League but there are 24 matches in the EFL Trophy.

This is also a third rate concept behind the two domestic Cups and brings together lower league clubs and Under 21 representatives from the Premier League. The Southampton academy still produces good young players so the nap of the night is SOUTHAMPTON U21 to beat Cambridge United at 13/8 with bet365.

Its debatable whether the enforced pause in the Premier League is good or bad news for Jose Mourinho. He was backed off the boards to be the next Premier League manager to leave his job and at half-time in Manchester United's match against Newcastle at Old Trafford betting was suspended. The comeback from two goals down to win shook up the market on the boss to be out of work first.

The Fulham manager has been backed and SLAVISA JOKANOVIC is now 20/1 to go first. Phil Neville has never managed at a professional club but he seems to be doing a good job as the manager of the women's national team. ENGLAND are 4/6 with William Hill to beat Australia in a friendly match tonight.

The Dewhurst Stakes is the most important race for colts aged two and often identifies leading contenders for the following year's Classics. Aiden O'Brien targets the race with his best male juvenile but he trains eight of the 12 declared runners this time. His best chance could be with TEN SOVEREIGNS and 8/1 is a price worth taking but the horse is not a definite runner so there is that downside.

There are no races of the quality of the Group 1 juvenile's championship contest at Leicester today. However, there is a decent handicap over five furlongs at 3.20 that has attracted seven runners. That means there are only two payout places for each way bets so win only is the best wager. BLUE DE VEGA can overcome carrying four pounds more than his amended mark and win this race at 5/1 with Coral.

Beckett, Leech And Tate The One's To Follow - By High Roller Racing

This week I have been studying trainers form and interestingly came across three trainers either in form or running into form. After looking at their entries in the coming days I offer horses worth considering in the next week or so.

Ralph Beckett had an extremely disappointing 2017 with only 67 winners... this following 2016 when he saddled 101 winners. However so far in 2018 Ralph, as I write, has saddled 70 winners so is heading in the right direction after the poor season in 2017. A three year old Culdrose is a filly with promise and has entries this week. She is a very workmanlike looking filly who ran well at Leicester earlier in the season and has one entry at same track. Poyle George Two has an entry for Leicester and is interesting of a BHA handicap mark of 67. Pacify has a few years experience behind him and I think he could win before the end of the Turf season. Watch out carefully for Ralph Beckett entries and declarations.

Sophie Leech has had three winners from her last eleven runners which is good for one of the smaller yards of jumping horses. She is in a good spell of form so look for her entries and declarations in the next week. Wahaab has a couple of entries on the Flat and he is back to his last winning handicap mark. Sophie has three entered at Ludlow on Wednesday and they all seem worthy of consideration. Admiral Spice, Dun Scaith and Throckley are the horses concerned so look them over. Pay attention to Sophie in her current form.

Jason Tate has his horses in good form but especially the juveniles who has been responsible for seven of the stables last eight winners. The statistics for the yard show that Jason is above average for all ages in his yard. Intuitive showed promise on debut and could do well in his chosen entry this week. Haadaf and Bidding War look like horses ready to strike soon. Watch out for Jason Tate's entries and declaration.

High Roller Racing has made a decent start to October with FOUR WINNERS this last week. Profit of approximately nine points in this the first week of the month. We are FREE to JOIN. You pay just £10 per winner and latest winner was 9/4. Follow the link below to give us a try.

Tuesday's Horses In Focus - By Unity Racing Investments

I am so very pleased to report that we continue in fine fettle. We are nicely up in October. We are currently making new all time highs and that means real money in the bank.

October Stats

18.23 Total Points - 113.91% Return on Investment - 25.00% Strike Rate

We backed Salouen at 160/1 on the exchanges for the Arc and he certainly out ran his price. They used different tactics for the race and he was really unlucky not to get a clear run. A close 6th but I certainly felt with a clear run he could have placed at least. Still only 4 he has improved and I think the horse deserves a big win the trainer has done wonders with him. We also know that he needs plenty of cut. If he makes it to the arc next year I think he will be a big player.

We had a nice win yesterday with TOPBOY bouncing back to form and easy 2 length winner at 5/1 sp. That was our only bet for the day. Today is a little busier as we have 4 horses running. It will be tougher as they are priced between 15/2 and 16/1. Yet I am confident we can land a winner or 2 but I'm very hopeful we may see a big day.

4 years of proven edge against the bookmakers. That proves our system works for the long term and recently we think we have improved. We have reduced our bets and increased our strike rate so now is a great time to join us.

Today's free bet Brighton 1-20 Handicap (Class 6) 5f ASKTHEGURU 11/1 with paddy power is a fair bit over priced the horse ran a good speed figure last time out. He also knows what it takes to win over this course and distance. Beaten by impart last time but the horse was finishing fast and today he might have the edge over that rival. He's fit and ready to go so a big run is expected.

Jumper To Follow

One for the note book this jump season is

CHARMED LIFE (4 b g Kalanisi – Lady Bellingham) - Form: 6 - Trainer: Jessica Harrington - Owner: Matt Booth & Miss Rachael Evans

This horse has only run once in a valuable bumper at fairymouse. He certainly ran with credit that day finished 6/17 coming from the back. That wasn't bad at all considering he was only 70% fit and this horse is really bred to be better over further and is the type to get better with age.

He is half brother to some 7 winners including talented types most notably bumper/Grade 1-placed 2m hurdle/smart 2m 2f-2m 6f chase (including at Grade 1 level) winner In Compliance and Grade 2-placed 2m 3f hurdle/smart 2m 3f-3m 2f chase (including at Grade 1 level) winner One Cool Cookie.

At £58,000 he wasn't a cheap purchase but I think this is another future star so pop him in your diary he will keep improving all year.
